VERY EUROPEAN VICTORY FOR PATRICE DELAVEAU

Patrice Delaveau brilliantly won the major class of Thursday, 5 May, the Prix du Ministère de l'Agriculture (Ministry of Agriculture Prize) with his young Jumpy des Fontaines. It was the first victory at this level of competition following that achieved at Gaillon (CSI), in a preparatory class for the Grand Prix.

This stallion, with the very French name, has a fashionably very European ascendance and membership : his owner, Aart Alberts, is Dutch and lives in France in Orne, at Bourg St. Léonard, close to the Pin National Stud. Jumpy's sire, the 1996 Atlanta Olympic Games champion Jus de Pomme was a great Selle Français imported into Germany. His mother is called Bambola and was born, herself also, of mixed blood : Ramiro (Holsteiner chief of breed) and Almé (chief of breed for the Selle Français studbook). The resulting product, Jumpy is ... Selle Français, a quite square head, an extraordinary class of gallop, and a 'fashionable' model.
